

PI Square Terms of Use

Terms of Use

To ensure the smooth operation of the PI Square community (PI Square) and to ensure that your rights and the rights of OSIssoft LLC are protected, we have created a series of legal agreements that will provide the necessary protection. The content on this Site is provided by OSIssoft LLC, (OSI) and its licensors and content providers. The "Site" refers to pisquare.osisoft.com and all other Web properties owned or operated by OSI now and in the future as PI Square community, OSIssoft Virtual Campus (or anything that replaces, supplements, or supersedes the Web as the site of PI Square community).

TERMS OF USE: The basic agreement is the Terms of Use ("TOU") which you are now reading. The TOU set out the legal terms by which OSI makes its web site and services available. When you visit PI Square community, you will automatically be bound by the TOU. By using the Site, you accept our then current TOU, as revised and updated.

COMMITMENT TO BUSINESS ETHICS: We take pride in conducting our business with integrity at all times and our strict compliance with relevant local laws, regulations and international standards. We promote the rule of law and our high standards wherever we are in the world. Bribery, in all its forms, is prohibited. We do not promise, offer or accept bribes or anything which could be taken for one, either directly or indirectly. We only make payments for legitimate business services and at a rate that reflects their market value. By joining the PI Square community and the OSIssoft community, you are indicating that you too share these values and will abide by these principles.

FOR CONTRIBUTORS OF DOCUMENTS (E.G. ARTICLES): If you contribute documents (in any form or media), you give us the rights necessary to edit and post and maintain your material (and the edited version), and to prevent unauthorized uses by End Users of material that we edit. End Users are given rights to read your material, but no rights to republish or otherwise distribute your material. PI Square community will retain your copyright notices, and can publish your name and site ID with your posting. If we edit your material, we will own the edited version, and you will own your original version. We cannot publish our edited version other than on the Site, without your consent. If you desire End Users to be able to contact you, you should advise PI Square community so your contact information can be published. If your material has been previously published, that publisher may have rights, and if so, you must obtain all consents before posting on PI Square community. If your material contains images, audio, or video, we require that you have obtained consents from all persons depicted, seen, or heard, the owners of any places depicted, and any other rights holders.

FOR USERS OF DOCUMENTS: We require that you respect our Contributors. In general, all rights, except the right to read/view/listen to posted documents for your personal use are reserved to the Contributors, or to us.

FOR USERS OF CODE: End Users are advised that code is posted to PI Square community subject to the TOU, and that if you download code from PI Square community for use in your own applications, you will also have to agree to abide by the terms of an End User License Agreement (EULA) specified by the Contributor of that code. PI Square community is not a party to that EULA. Not all Contributors make their intellectual property available on the same license terms. Contributors are free to state their own terms of a EULA in their submission to us. Please ensure that you have carefully read the specific EULA agreement that applies to the code you wish to use.

FOR CONTRIBUTORS OF CODE: From time to time End Users may collaborate within Users Group or in related source repositories. Any collaborative projects (a.k.a. Community Projects) shall be licensed subject to either the Microsoft Public License (Ms-PL) or Apache V2 license as defined by the project mediator(s). Any collaborative project using OSIssoft licensed interfaces (such as the SDKs) must NOT be distributed outside of PI Square community prior written consent from OSIssoft. Non-compliance will result in a forfeit of membership(s) and future access to Users Group in addition to any other legal remedies pursued.
