

AVEVA Pledges 1% of Profits to “Action for Good”

Programme includes paid time off for employee-led activities and a fund allocated to support local and global causes

Cambridge, 11 October 2018 – AVEVA, a global leader in engineering and industrial software has launched the “AVEVA Action for Good” programme, to support global and regional social wellbeing initiatives, which make a positive difference to the workplace, its communities and the environment.

As part of AVEVA’s commitment to this initiative, the company has pledged 1% of profit after tax to support employee-led programmes, initiatives and causes.

Across 40 countries and 80 locations, through the Action for Good programme, employees will now have an additional day of paid leave per year for social wellbeing activities and access to a fund to support their work within local communities and worldwide.

AVEVA’s employees have in the past organised fundraising and charitable activities, including providing support to local orphanages in India, raising money to provide vaccines for local children in Japan and working to prevent the deterioration of a mangrove forest in Thailand.

“We live life at AVEVA through our core values of Limitless possibilities, Integrity always, Flexibility together and Excellence every day. Whenever I spend time with employees around the world, I am reminded of these values through their passionate support for the communities in which they live,” said Craig Hayman, CEO AVEVA. “AVEVA Action for Good is our approach and commitment to support them in this important work. I’m excited about how Action for Good will help employees engage within their communities and support environmental initiatives.”
